EXCELSIOR

BURNING OIL.

EXCELSIOR BURNING OIL.—A sample of this Oil, manufactured by Lothrop, Bassett & Co. has been subjected to chemical and photometrical experiments. Although its vapor inflames at common temperature, it will not explode on the approach of flame, the whole of the oil in the lamp being consumed without the wick becoming charred or incrusted. The light afforded by the flame of this oil is agreeable to the eyes, and is excellent for working, reading or writing by, as it contains the desirable rays. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

20 State Street, Boston, January 19, 1866.

STATE ASSAYER'S OFFICE, 20 State Street, Boston.

Messrs. Lothrop, Bassett & Co.—Gentlemen: Your "Excelsior Burning Oil" has been tested and examined here.

The vapor of this substance being dense and heavier than air, will not mix with it. It is not explosive, and there is no danger when burning it from the Marcy Burners.

I consider this a safer illuminating combustible than "Kerosene." Respectfully,

S. DANA HAYES,

24th January, 1866. Chemist and Assayer.

The attention of the trade is invited to the above named Excelsior Burning Oil, (which is secured by copyright,) and is pronounced by all who have used it,

The Best Oil in the Market.

It cannot be exploded, and in softness of light is equal to alcohol.

We claim that it possesses all the superior qualities of Fluid, with none of its defects.

It burns beautifully in the common fluid lamp, with straight fluid tubes, and far better than Kerosene in the common Kerosene Lamp, with the simple adoption of "Marcy's Patent Burner," which is the only perfectly safe burner now in use, and its perfect safety will commend it to an intelligent public.

Canadian News—

WASHINGTON, June 18.

The Senate having called upon the President for information concerning the action concerning the late insurgent States on the subject of the rebel debt, he responded:

The North Carolina convention prohibited its payment; the South Carolina convention and Legislatures were unable to act without further information concerning the debt; the Georgia convention pronounced it null and void, and prohibited its payment; the Alabama convention forbid the assumption of any part of it; the Florida convention declared it null and void; the Mississippi Legislature prohibited its payment until authorized by that body; the Texas convention declared it null and void.

NEW YORK, June 19.

The Herald's Ottawa special says the Cabinet Council has decided to use great caution in making arrests under the habeas corpus suspension act. A number already arrested have been bailed.

One of the Fenians arrested has been recognized as a deserter from the 47th Regulars.

Commissioners are being appointed to assess damages done by the Fenians, with a view to their liquidation by the government. It is a matter of consideration whether the claims shall be submitted to the United States.

BOSTON, June 19.

Building No. 404 Washington street, occupied for a furniture warehouse and manufactory by Hale, Morse & Boydon was destroyed by fire this morning. The estimated loss is $50,000, mostly insured.

At 11 o'clock last night fire broke out in the upper part of building 127 and 129 Tremont street, which, fortunately, was fortunately was confined in the third and fourth stories. The building is mainly occupied by Childs & Jencks, extensive picture dealers. Loss ten thousand dollars. Insured.

HUDSON, June 19.

A colored woman died of cholera in the street here yesterday. and an Irishman dropped down with it in a corn field on Saturday last.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 19.

The storm is now over. Five schooners, a brig and two barks are ashore. Several vessels were badly damaged by the gale.

NEW YORK, June 19.

The Commercial says:

The stock market shows a slight recovery. Transactions however, are limited. The speculative demand for 5-20s has abated.—7-30s are in demand.

Gold is still excited, the price opened at 154¼ and fell to 150¾.

Foreign exchange very dull.

NEW YORK, June 19.

There has been no deaths by cholera in this city to-day. Last night officer Greene was attacked with unmistakable symtoms of cholera, but was doing well to-day.

At 3 a. m. to-day George A. Simpson, a porter living in Mulberry street, was attacked by the cholera and is not expected to recover.

BUFFALO, June 19.

The receiver of the Merchants' National Bank, having ascertained who are its bona fide stockholders, entered suit against thirteen persons of this city, and fourteen of Baltimore. He sets fourth in this bill that he has ascertained that the assets and credits of the bank are wholly insufficient to pay its debts and liabilities, and that it will be necessary to the complete and entire administration of the trust to him reposed that recourse shall be had to the personal liabilities imposed on the stockholders by virtue of the act of June 31, 1864, as well as that of Feb. 20, 1865. He further shows that two thousand shares were issued, and charges that it will be necessary for the payment of the just debts to obtain from the said stockholders an amount of money fully equal to the amount of the stock so issued according to its par value, $200,000, and that he is entitled to have an account taken, as against said stockholders, of the amount of indebtedness due said association, and to recover from each in proportion to the number of shares held by him in stock, equally and ratably, so that after such application a balance of indebtedness will remain due from said association largely exceeding the sum of $200,000.

The difference between Carlyle's works and Beadle's Dime Novels is, that while the one are sententious the others are ten-centious.

The introduction of steel collars is the last agony. There will be no trouble now in getting one's linen ironed.

Some forty members of Congress have addressed a letter to Governor Brownlow, of Tennessee, asking him to convene the Legislature for the purpose of ratifying the constitutional amendment. It is intimated that if this be done the Tennessee delegation will be at once admitted.

Reverdy Johnson declares that in a case argued by him recently, a majority of the U. S. Supreme Court decided the Missouri test oath to be unconstitutional, on the ground of its being repugnant to the provision in the tenth section of the first article of the Constitution, that no State shall pass any bill of attainder or ex post facto law. He says the decision was not declared at the recent term from want of time to draw up the opinion.

THE EUROPEAN WAR. The probability is that before this time hostilities have actually begun between Prussia and Austria.—The thieves have fallen to fighting over their plunder, and as they wound and lacerate each other, Denmark has her revenge. But it is not likely to be merely a war over the spoils of Denmark. Austria promises to improve the opportunity, by reviving disputes over the map of Europe which are of something more than a hundred years' standing, and to undertake the recovery of Silesia, which was wrung from her, in the Seven Years' War, by Frederick the Great. There has for some time been no doubt that Italy would improve her chance for striking a blow for the recovery of Venetia, for which purpose the enthusiasm of Garibaldi's volunteers has already been excited to a degree which renders retreat impossible for their government. France, that empire which is synonymous with peace, is watching, as we have said, for whatever may accrue to her advantage, tolerably sure under the shrewd management of her Emperor to pluck some profit where her rival is only able to reap discredit. And as for the minor powers of Europe, they shrink and shiver amidst the struggles of giants, with a tolerable assurance of certain destruction by the heel of one of the combatants, even if they escape the other.

That the impending struggle is not a matter of indifference to the United States, remote as it is from all our direct interests, was shown by the extraordinary convulsion which the news occasioned in the gold market on Saturday. We do not apprehend, however, any serious complication of the financial relations of this country from this cause. It will be found, we suspect, that our affairs will adjust themselves more easily than ever before to the conditions of a crisis abroad, and that in point of fact we shall find ourselves more independent of the misfortunes of Europe than at any former period of our history. It may prove, moreover, that the full occupation of the European powers on the other side of the Atlantic may not be altogether untimely for the easy and proper adjustment of the disturbed relations of our own continent.—[Boston Advertiser.

—It may not be generally known, says the Illustrirte Zeitung, that the famous statue of Pompey, at whose feet Julius Cæsar died, is now in the possession of the Marquis of Hartford, whose father paid $125,-000 francs for it.

NEW HAMPSHIRE GOLD MINES. According to a report of Dr. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, who has recently analyzed specimens of rock from the gold mines of Lyman, N. H., the owners thereof are likely to realize handsomely. The red quartz has been found to yield, per ton, $867 in gold; the mixed quartz, talcose slate, gozzan, pyrites, &c., yield, upon analysis, $310 42 per ton.

It is one thing to get an "assay" of a certain amount of gold, and another to catch and hold the amount by mining operations.

—Mrs. Keble, widow of the poet, died recently at Brookside, Bournemouth, England, in the same house where her husband died. On the removal of her husband's body to Hursley, she begged that his grave might be kept open for her—she should not be long apart from him. Her words were singularly verified; She survived him but sixty-six days.

—"Some days back," says a Paris journal, a collector of artistic curiosities was exploring the store of a dealer in old iron, where he remarked an elegant little lock, covered with rust, bearing the inscription, Lud. XVI. me fecit (Louis XVI made me), and which he purchased for 3f. 50c. He has since sold it for 2400f.

—A Judge in Texas gave as a reason for ordering the early execution of a convict that the jail was a miserable and uncomfortable building not fit for a man to live in.

—"Is your master up?" asked an early visitor of a nobleman's valet. "Yes, sir," rejoined the valet, with great innocence; "the butler and I carred him up about three o'clock."

—The Richmond Times says an order has been issued at Washington for the release of the notorious Dick Turner, one of the commanders of Libby Prison during the rebellion, and who was distinguished for his cruelty to Union soldiers; If this is so it is not very probable, provided Dick remains in this country, that life insurance companies would be over anxious to grant him a policy.

—Congress will probably adjourn on the 16th of July, as the leading members think that the business can be completed on that day.—[Boston Journal.

Congressional Convention.

The Union Voters of the IVth Congressional District, (composed of the Counties of Penobscot, Piscataquis and Aroostook), are requested to assemble, by their delegates, at the

CITY HALL IN BANGOR,

On Wednesday the 20th day of June next, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative for said District to the XLth Congress of the United States, and for transacting such other business as may properly come before said Convention.

Every Town and Plantation is entitled to one delegate; each town that in 1864 cast 50 votes for Gov. Cony, to two delegates, and for every additional 50 votes an additional delegate, and for each fraction of 25 or more votes another delegate.

Letter from Hon. John H. Rice.

WASHINGTON, June 15, 1866.

To the Union Republican Electors of the Fourth Congressional District in Maine, and to their Convention of Delegates to be assembled at Bangor on the 20th inst:

By observation of events which have recently transpired in the District, and the comments of the public press, in reference to the convention and the candidate who shall be selected for your suffrages in the next election, I judge that some doubt or misapprehension may exist as to my position in connection therewith. That such doubt may be dispelled, and such misapprehension corrected, (if any exist), I ask your indulgence for a brief recurrence to the past, and a statement of my present position. Nothing less than to avoid any appearance of equivocation before a constituency which has so generously honored and trusted me, could be a sufficient apology for thus obtruding upon you what may seem a "personal explanation."

When first nominated by the Republicans of the Fifth Congressional District in 1860, it may be remembered that I did not have any competitors before the convention. By the new apportionment, the present district was composed largely of the former Fifth district, part of Somerset county being detached from, and the county of Aroostook added to, the counties of Penobscot and Piscataquis. In 1862, a distinguished citizen of Penobscot was an aspirant for your nomination. My friends then felt, as I did, that by the usages of the party I had some claim to be renominated, and that a failure to receive it would be an implied censure of my official conduct. The people sustained that view of the question, and gave me the nomination with but two dissenting votes, and my highest ambition was gratified in the recorded approval of an intelligent constituency.

From that day forth I was resolved not to ask for further renewal of the favor then so generously accorded. But, if it should be (unexpectedly) repeated, it must be by the spontaneous action of the people, and not by any solicitation from me. It was repeated by you in 1864, and without opposition, by the generous retirement from the canvass of those who might, by their high position and distinguished ability, have properly been competitors. I governed myself firmly and consistently by that resolution then, I have not swerved from it since, and do not now. No man has been importuned to give to me such further support. Those who have been and are the recipients of public patronage and favor, through my instrumentality, have never been reminded of the fact, pending any canvass in which my name has been before you.

Soon after the call for your early convention was announced, I was in receipt of numerous letters inquiring if I would again be a candidate, and many claiming that such would be my duty. I invariably replied that I would not claim or ask for another nomination; but if I should conclude that such was the desire of the people, that I would not decline, but on the contrary would be gratified by their continued confidence.—During my brief visit among you in May last, I was assured by many that, in view of the present unsettled condition of the country and the disagreements and difficulties surrounding the questions of reconstruction and restoration of the rebellious States, and of the sentiments and action by me held and taken in relation thereto, that the people would desire my further continuance in Congress. On the other hand, I found many friends who stated that the popular sentiment had, by prior understanding, been concentrated upon our distinguished fellow citizen, and, as I believe, my personal friend, the Hon. John A. Peters.

My obligation to you and to the country demanded my immediate return to the discharge of my official duties here, so that I had not time nor opportunity to satisfy myself as to what my duty might be touching my personal position before you in relation to your approaching convention. I therefore decided to submit the whole subject to several prominent and judicious citizens of Bangor, with full power to take such action as they might deem best, keeping prominently in view the best interests of the district and the country, and the harmony of the party, rather than any personal interest I might have in the premises. I selected them without exaction of pledge or trammel, and generally without knowledge of their opinions and preferences. In the hasty letter addressed to them, I gave them full and unlimited authority to announce in any manner they might see fit, their conclusions. I have not revoked any of their powers, nor advised nor suggested how, or in what manner, they should exercise them. I resolved that I would not by word or deed take any further action in the matter, but refer all inquiries to them, as I have invariably done, and generally with expression of opinion that they would decide that I would not be a candidate. They announced that I was not a candidate, and I supposed that ended the matter; but it was immediately claimed that I must announce publicly over my own signature that I was not and would not be.—This I declined to do, as it would be a revocation of the power I had conferred upon others, and which I had said I would not disturb. I might with as much propriety have repudiated their acts already done. No word of declaration or encouragement has gone from me that I was or would be a candidate. This was, I think, as much as could reasonably be expected of me under all the circumstances.

The recent "Soldiers' and Sailors' County Convention" was called without any knowledge, and their action was without advice or suggestion from me. It was a matter exclusively their own, and any such advice or suggestion would have been, not only out of place, but foolishly impertinent. I trust I may now be pardoned for expressing to them my high appreciation of the (undeserved?) honors and warm expressions of confidence, accorded to me by their action and speech. I must be allowed to regard it as one of the well-springs amid the barren waste of life, to which I shall ever revert with undiminished pleasure. And this not from any expectation that their action and their efforts can have any very marked effect for my restoration to popular favor, but from my high appreciation of the character and the services of the men to whom we all owe more than we can ever repay. They have saved to us our country, and released it from the chains of slavery. They have preserved our homes for our children, and our children's children, by their bloody sacrifices, and forever secured them in the future by the mere memory of their prowess. They have demonstrated the enduring strength of our republican government, and entrenched it firmly within the eternal walls of liberty, equality and justice, through which may enter the oppressed peoples of the earth and dwell with us in peace and safety. Such has been and will be the grand consummation of their heroic labors. Let us not forget nor neglect them, nor fail to yield to them all honor and glory.

In the grand march of events through which we have recently passed, and in which we are now progressing, public men are nothing, except as they embody and represent the great ideas of National Unity and Republican Liberty. The former has been preserved by the crushing force of bullet, blade and bayonet. The latter must be secured by the firm and intelligent action of the loyal masses, through the instrumentality of the ballot, and faithful representation. The people, everywhere, have generous confidence in those who have served them faithfully through the dark days and groaning nights of the country's peril; but they will not follow them one inch outside the straight and narrow path, which alone leads to the consummation of human liberty, political justice, and national glory. Senators, and Secretaries and President, may interpose their timid theories and patch-work policy, but they only serve to vex the tide of popular sentiment, which is sweeping onward and upward, to high water mark of republican liberty. The present Congress has done, and will do much, for the security of the nation, and the protection of all classes and conditions of the people, but we shall fall far short of doing all that should be done. Give us credit for what we deserve, but do not fix that as the ultima thule of your political aspiration and effort. No! Let us inscribe "Excelsior" upon our banners. "Higher yet" elevate our standard, and march forward with closed ranks and firm step, timed to the "music of the Union," against the crumbling citadels of prejudice and oppression. Let us not give up the fight, until perfect equality before the law, shall be conceded to each and every citizen, with equal and impartial, political and civil rights and powers, through which and by which to secure and maintain such legal equality. I am ready and willing to take my place with you again in the ranks, and contend there, as I have done here, according to my ability, for these great and enduring principles, which, with the blessing of God, I believe, are destined to have their fulfilment and fruition, in this our grand and glorious Republic. It is not alone your right, but your duty, to call to your service in Congress, your ablest and most efficient Citizen. Not the one, who will alone best promote and maintain the local interests of a great and intelligent constituency, but who will also unflinchingly support and maintain the radical and fundamental principles of political ethics. That your selection will fall upon such a one I have no doubt, and it will be my pleasure as well as my duty, to give to him the same generous and hearty support which has been so uniformly extended to me.

With renewed, and most heartfelt expressions of respect and gratitude to you and to your families and friends, for favors in great measure unrequited, I beg leave to subscribe myself, most respectfully,

Your fellow citizen,
And obedient servant,
JOHN H. RICE.

It will be seen from the above that Mr. Rice's name was withdrawn by us in accordance with the authority given by him to a committee of gentlemen in this city; and in justice to ourselves we must say that it was done in the language suggested by Mr. Rice himself, if it were judged best that it should be done.

Mr. Hooper, from the Banking Committee, has reported a bill to the House to amend the National Currency act in important particulars. Power is given the Comptroller of the Currency to proceed summarily against any bank guilty of misfeasance, and each bank is prohibited from lending money to any one person in an amount exceeding one tenth its capital stock, unless on specified security. The circulation of all banks whose capital is less than $300,000 is reduced 10 per cent., and no bank circulation shall exceed $1,000,000. The reduction thus made is estimated at $15,000,000, but in its place an additional authority is granted for $30,000,000 of circulation; half for the conversion of State into National banks, and half for the Southern and other States which have less than their fair proportion of capital. The total amount of National bank capital for the United States is not to exceed the present limit of $300,000,000.—The bill proposes also to require all the National banks to redeem their notes at New York, Philadelphia, and Boston.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.
DR. J. W. POLAND'S
HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

An Effectual Worm Medicine.
BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR WORM LOZENGES. Much sickness, undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.
CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.
SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.
CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors, New York.—Sold by all Dealers in Medicines, at 25 cts a box.

FROM GEORGIA.

A Freedmen's Convention to be Held in that State.

A Feeling of Animosity Reported between Colored Men and Bureau Officers.

BATH, June 19, 1866.

Union caucus held here this evening.—Bath unites with Bangor, Augusta, Gardiner, Lewiston, Auburn, Belfast, Ellsworth, &c., &c., &c., in a straight out delegation for the hero of "Little Round Top." P.

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 19.

There was a destructive fire at Newbury, S. C., on Monday, which destroyed stores and dwellings.

A Freedmen's Convention will meet here July. Delegates have been elected from all parts of the State. The object of the meeting is to memorialize Congress for the right of franchise and for trial by jury of their own color.

George Pitts and Henderson Breck of this city have been elected delegates by large majority—anti-Bureauists.

At a meeting of colored people both do-mestic and creative of disturbance between the two races. They are willing to trust to the laws and their old master's friends for protection.

The Bureau agent at Griffin said: "I will be d——d if I allow negroes to talk disrespectfully of my Bureau."

Heathen arrested the delegates, who were afterwards released by the authorities.

The employees of the revenue office in Georgia and South Carolina are resigning, rather than unable to take the test oath.

Several postoffices have been closed, and great inconvenience will be the result until the evil is remedied.

Messrs. Stephens, Brown, Cobb, Hill and others are arguing for and against the constitutionality of the stay law before the Supreme Court at Milledgevile. The decision is looked for with interest.

The gold mines of Dahllorga, Georgia, are about to be worked with improved machinery.

The weather has been unusually cold for the last three days.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 19.

Richard Monson and Hugh McGowen died of apoplexy in this city to-day.

NEW YORK, June 19.

The steamship Queen, from Liverpool 6th inst., has arrived at this port. News anticipated.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.

At the Roman chariot race to-day, Miss Virginia Mason, of New York, was the victor, beating Miss Sherwood, of Philadelphia. The novelty of the race attracted an immense crowd. The ladies were dressed in classic costumes.

BUFFALO, June 19.

The schooner Jennie P King capsized off Long Point, in Lake Erie, during a gale and all hands lost.

The propeller Cuyahoga, with a cargo of corn came in collision with another vessel and sunk at Port Huron.

The schooner J M Lee went to pieces near Buffalo.

A number of others disasters during the same gale are reported, but without the particulars.

EASTPORT, June 19.

Brig Edwinston Brothers of Yarmouth, bound to St. John, was totally wrecked on Moose River Head yesterday at 10 o'clock, in a thick fog. Materials saved.

CINCINNATI, June 19.

Generals Grant and Sherman arrived here this morning. General Sherman leaves to-night for St Louis, and General Grant goes to Washington to-morrow.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, June 19.

Senate.

The reports of the army and navy officers on coast defences was received and ordered to be printed.

The army appropriation bill was then taken up.

An amendment was adopted making an appropriation for the support of the Freedmen's Bureau.

An amendment was adopted that the President shall not dismiss officers unless convicted by court martial.

The House proviso forbidding any money to be paid to the Illinois Central R. R. was struck out.

The Pacific Railroad bill was then taken up.

After a long discussion the bill was passed yeas 20, nays 12.

Adjourned.

House.

There was quite a debate on the bill granting aid to the railroad from Folsom to Placerville, California, and it was referred to the committee on public laws.

The vote of the 8th of June rejecting the bill establishing a department of education was after debate, reconsidered, and the bill passed—yeas 80, nays 44.

The army bill was then taken up.

It provides for the establishment of five regiments of artillery, six of cavalry, five of infantry, &c.

It was debated by sections and several amendments offered were rejected.

The further consideration of the bill was postponed, leaving eighteen sections to be considered.

Mr Rogers presented a minority report from the committee on reconstruction. Ordered to be printed.

The Speaker presented a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury in reply to the House resolution relative to gold sales.

Also a letter from the Clerk of the House stating that he had presented to the President a certified copy of the concurrent resolution adopted yesterday, requesting the President to forward to the Governors of the several States the proposed constitutional amendments.

Our neighbor will not of course deny that papers in Maine have declared themselves repeatedly as in favor of no settlement which did not incorporate the principle of universal suffrage. He knows, too, that we, almost alone of all the Union papers, advocated instead the impartial suffrage theory, the Blaine amendment, and the principles in extenso which appear in the proposed Constitutional amendment. Is it asking too much of our neighbor to repair the injustice committed against us in his paper of last Friday?—[Times.

It may be that The Times has advocated all that it claims above, and many other things; but has it done so as a condition precedent to admission of Congressmen from rebel States? As to any injustice alleged to have been done by us, we would repair it, if we could see it. We have merely said that The Times has represented the controversy between the President and Congress as rather a matter of minor difference than otherwise—that it has been on both sides of that controversy, so far as we could see—that we could not perceive how it could support both Johnson and Chamberlain—and finally that nobody could tell where it was, as between Congress and the President. Now if anybody can tell distinctly, they have more penetration than we pretend to have. The Times has said enough about it, we know; but the more it says, the more confused we get. It may be the fault of our own stupidity, but we cannot help that.

As to what was said particularly in The Whig of Friday, relative to The Times, we are quite willing to say that in its previous article upon which we commented, it spoke of the differences between Union members of Congress upon reconstruction as "minor topics,"—not the reconstruction question itself, but our remarks were intended to apply to its general course upon that question.

General Chamberlain.

In order to disabuse the public of an error which has been very industriously circulated respecting the political antecedents of Gen. Chamberlain, we would state that he was brought up a Democrat, but left that party in voting for Gov. Hamlin in 1856, since which time he has done all he could for the cause which is now the foundation of the Union Republican party. One who has so ably established his position by such deeds of valor and honorable wounds as he has, it is hardly necessary to say so much as this, but it is well that the whole truth should be known. P.

EGYPT AND ITS RULERS. A recent letter from Cairo to a London journal contains some interesting information touching the condition of affairs in that country, which we copy.

The Viceroy of Egypt enjoys the reputation of being the richest individual in the world. He possesses immense estates in the most fertile country of the globe, the value of the annual produce of which may be reckoned by millions of pounds sterling.—He has palaces innumerable, stores, factories machinery, and such facilities for the maintenance of his property and his own aggrandisement as are only limited by the resources of the country which he governs. Yet this wealthy prince is always short of money, and at the present moment his resources are so impaired that he has been obliged to despatch his minister, Nubar Pacha, to London, to try and raise a private loan, that introduced by the Anglo-Egptian Bank having proved, it is said, a failure.

It may seem almost incredible that His Highness, who is by no means addicted to spending a shilling when a sixpence will do as well, can have contrived to dissipate the enormous income he derived from the country last year; but such appears to be the fact. Private expenditure, bribes given at Constantinople, and importation of agricultural and other machinery, will go far to account for the present embarrass of the vice regal exchequer. It is no exaggeration to say that several hundred thousand pounds may be seen represented by steam ploughs alone, which are lying in fragments cumbering the ground at every railway station in the Delta.

The Turkish character, though prone to acquire wealth, seems incapable of conserving it; and if, as sometimes happens, a father dies wealthy, his children seldom keep his property intact.

I need not remind your readers how El Hami Pacha, son of Abbas Pacha, squandered his immense inheritance in only or two brief years, and died a bankrupt, poisoned, it is said, by the order of the Porte, because he was unable to maintain his rank and that of the princess he had married.—Instances of the same kind are constantly occurring among the nobility. Halim Pacha, the last of the sons of Mehemet Ali, and next heir but one to the vice-royalty, a man of considerable enlightenment for this country, is so embarrassed that he has been obliged to dismiss nearly all his servants; and the sons of Ahmet Pacha Yeghan, cousins of the Viceroy, have spent all their large fortune, and may have to become bankrupts As with individuals, so with the Government; when they have funds they squander them on all sorts of extravagances, and leave nothing against a rainy day. Will this state of things last—or is this rich country to pass some day into the hands of rulers who know better how to husband their resources?

The system of Egyptian railways has been considerably developed during the last six months, many branch lines having been completed, while others are in course of construction. It is true that nearly all these branches have been made for the benefit of his Highness' private estates, but the public gains indirectly, as the trunk line is relieved thereby. Four express trains now run daily between Alexandria and Cairo, accomplishing the whole distance of 90 miles in a little over four hours, which is considesed a great feat.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION. The Union Nominating Convention for the Fourth Congressional District assembles in this city to-day, at CITY HALL, at 11 o'clock A. M. A large number of delegates from Piscataquis and Aroostook arrived yesterday and last evening. It is probable the Convention will be the fullest that has been held in this District.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL. We understand that the ladies connected with the Orphan Asylum will hold a strawberry festival July 4th. It will be largely patronized of course.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED. We are pleased to learn that our accommodating and efficient Postmaster, Jason Weeks, Esq., who was re-appointed some months since, has had the appointment confirmed by the Senate.

—Meeting of the Sons of Temperance, this (Wednesday) evening, at their hall in Pioneer Chapel. The public are invited to attend.

LAST DAY OF EXHIBITION. Those fine paintings at Concert Hall since the opening to the public, have been visited by a great by a great number of ladies and gentlemen lovers of Fine Arts—who expressed their admiration of so fine a display. The collection is one of the finest heretofore offered for sale in this city, the number of inferior paintings is comparatively small, while many of the number are of great artistic excellence. Those in want of good pictures, will do well to attend the sale, which commences this evening at 7½ o'clock. The gallery will be open to visitors from 9 a. m. until the time of sale.

HOUSE AND LOTS AT AUCTION. The Reed House and Lots on Main Street will be sold at half past 2 o'clock this afternoon, on the premises. Large lots, and centrally situated, with a good house. Cannot fail to have the attention of our citizens who now are or soon may be without a house for their families.

GRAND TRUNK. A despatch received by Capt. Flowers states that all the freight and passenger trains of the Grand Trunk have been running with regularity throughout the recent Fenian troubles in Canada, and that all freight is despatched regularly without the least danger or difficulty.

APPOINTMENT. We are pleased to learn that Winfield S. Chaplin, son of the late Col. Daniel Chaplin, of the 18th Maine, has received an appointment of Cadet at West Point.

—Forty carpenters and nineteen caulkers in the Kittery Navy Yard, who had refused to engage on work sent from New York on account of the strike of the trade there, were discharged on Wednesday.

—Dr. A. Garcelon, of Lewiston, is a candidate for member of Congress from the 2d district. The Union Congressional delegates from that city are understood to be favorable to his nomination.

—The local of the Portland Advertiser says: "We have abominable manuscript in our office." We should think so.

PORTLAND & ROCHESTER RAILROAD.—In the New Hampshire Legislature last Friday, a bill was introduced to constitute the Portland and Rochester Rrilroad Company, a corporation within the State of New Hampshire.

—Bro. Littlefield of the Clarion is ventilating a piece of neighborhood scandal, in which the process of ruining a woman's reputation by female tattle is well illustrated.—The case seems to have raised a terrible breeze on this usually quiet waters of Skowhegan, and it appears probable that the originator of the libel will come to grief. She has already got into the newspapers—next door to it.

—Mr. Paul of Fort Fairfield is buying potatoes in Aroostook for the Boston market, as we learn from the Sunrise. This is something new; but the high prices how obtained will pay to transport the article even from Aroostook.

—The most splendid railroad car in this country—even superior to any of the State cars in Europe—has been built in Salem for the shore line to New York. It is made in six compartments, each to accommodate eight persons, and cost $15,000. It is after the general principle of the first-class English cars, although larger.

—That notorious rebel in petticoats, Belle Boyd, recently made her debut on the stage at Manchester, England, in the character of Pauline in the "Lady of Lyons," and signally failed. She is said to have remarked to a friend that she preferred Lady Macbeth to Pauline, and that she would like to see her husband five minutes before she went on the stage, for the purpose of dressing him down, and giving her blood a healthy circulation. Her loathing detestation of him she said would fire her soul and keep it in a blaze through the performance.

—J. S. Buttrick, postmaster at Sterling, Mass., a director in the Lancaster Bank, and a man much esteemed for honesty and reliability, has gone under a terrible cloud. It seems that he has made such a sad misuse of moneys entrusted to him that many people have lost their all. Some of the complaints against him are of a criminal nature.

—In Italy they have a printing telegraphic machine that works between Milan and Neufchatel—forty miles—at the rate of twenty words in twenty seconds. This is the joint invention of Bonnelli and Hipp. Between Paris and Marseilles they use the Caselli apparatus, which reproduces the autograph of the person transmitting the despatch.

—Madame de Castelnau requests the French Academy to direct its commissioners to examine with the aid of the solar microscope the animalcules to which she attributes the development of cholera, and specimens of which she offers to place at their disposal.

—Archbishop Purcell, in Cincinnati, on Sunday, said in his sermon that the idea of the Fenians that only admitted the right of the church in spiritual affairs, and that it had no right to prescribe temporally for them, was heretical, and those who advocated it were "worse than Martin Luther at the head of the Reformation."

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde:

I would like to have one or two errors corrected, in a paragraph copied from the Press in regard to "Trouble in Bowdoin College" There has been no suspension, excepting that of the "nine," who were engaged in the game, which is little more than nominal, being but for two or three weeks. There is no spirit manifested which could occasion the suspension of the class. The trouble arose from a misapprehension on the part of the players.

Jeff. DAVIS's fondness for onions, as manifested in their great prominence in his bill of fare, has transformed him into a sort of prodigious leek. This accounts for the difficulty in bailing him out.

SAD AFFAIR. A man named Lovejoy, belonging in this city, was fatally poisoned, by accident, in Boston a few days since.—While in a silversmith's shop he took a drink from a jar which he supposed contained water, but it was a chemical preparation and caused his death within two hours.—Portland Argus.

BEST VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Is creating a sensation among the friends of those who have had their gray hair restored to its youthful color, and those whose bald heads have been covered with a luxuriant growth of hair. It so changes and improves their looks that intimate acquaintances scarcely recognize each other. For sale by druggists, of whom circulars can be obtained containing testimony to prove what we have intimated.

Home Proof.

MR. BARRETT:

DEAR SIR,—Having used a bottle of your "VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE" after having tried many other kinds without success, I am happy to accord to it the ne plus ultra of ALL Hair Preparations in the world, and do myself sincerely and cheerfully recommend it to the public as such.

Yours, &c., JOHN FRANKLIN,
No. 6 Tremont street, Boston.

Testimony from Abroad.

Messrs. J. R. BARRETT & Co:

I was induced by a friend to make a trial of BARRETT'S VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and I am very much pleased with the effect it has had on my hair. I was nearly half gray, and now, before using one bottle, my head is freed from dandruff, and my hair has all the appearance of youth I fully believe BARRETT'S to be the best Hair Preparation in the world. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
Augusta, June 6, 1866.

To Municipal Authorities:

A CONSTRUCTION has been placed upon the blank applications for State Pension, to which it is perhaps liable, though by no means intended, (as will appear by the instructions accompanying the blanks,) that every party applying shall declare him or herself a pauper. To correct this, in all cases in which persons applying are not receiving aid, either public or private, the third paragraph of the application signed by the proposed beneficiary, which declares the inability in the second line, should be changed by striking out the words "am," "and," and "continue to," so that line will read "obtain a livelihood for myself and those dependent upon me, and shall be compelled to," &c.

The object of this law is to relieve those who may be paupers, and prevent others from becoming so, and will be so administered.

Betsey's Bonnet.

'Well, Uncle Abel, now you are off for home, I suppose; trading all done, crops all bargained for, eh?' and John Dare lifted his hat and pushed back his thick hair as he stood on the hotel steps talking to a plain country farmer in a suit of home-spun gray.

'Wa'al, no, not quite yet, John. I want to get Betsey a bunnit; a real nice one; just as good a one as a Yorker might want. 'Cause Betsey's worked awful hard this spring. Times are good too. So I guess we will see if my Betsey shan't look as good as any body. S'pose you don't want to go along with me, do you?'

'Let me see—four o'clock—yes, I'll go, Uncle Abel. I'll look at the pretty girls, though; you won't mind that. Come on.'

So they walked off up the street, the fashionable attire of the young lawyer contrasting strongly with the antiquated cut of the farmer's garments, which at home were wont to lie in solemn state in the spare room all the week, only to be worn on Sundays. There was little likeness in the face—a trifle too fair for manly beauty, with its blonde mustache and setting of close brown curls—to the bronzed and beardless one, with the few locks, spare and gray, beneath the well brushed hat, but the clear blue eye was the same in both, and like those that were closed forever under the sod by the apple orchard on Uncle Abel's farm, where his dead sister was laid when John was a tiny child. It troubled John not a whit to be seen with the plain country-man. In spite of his perfumed hair and well-gloved hand, his heart was true and leal to the good friend of his boyhood, and the inquiring glances of his companions gave him no annoyance whatever.

They reached Madame Rozette's at last, and John lounged in the doorway and straightway engaged in the laudable employment of finding out the prettiest face among the girls in attendance. Josie Mollett, radiant with smiles—and I think a little artificial bloom, came forward with her most bewitching glances to wait upon the old farmer who brought so attractive a person with him; and, fancying that she would show her superior ability by so doing, made up her mind to quiz Uncle Abel unmercifully. Poor old man! He never was so miserable in his life. In Hoptown he would have had no trouble whatever. Miss Crabtree, in her plain dress and cap with lavender ribbons, would have told him at once what to get, and her little gray eyes would not have confused him in the least.

But here was a fine lady with a great circumference of black silk trailing out along the carpet, a waist no bigger than a wasp, a head on which the hair seemed struggling in crimps and curls to get away from shining bands strapped tightly around it, and a pair of great dark eyes looking straight at him. While the damsel held up one style after another, or tied them on coquettishly, Uncle Abel looked at John imploringly, but derived no help from him.

'Now, young woman show me some of your best bunnits—real good ones. None of your old-fashioned poor things for my wife.'

Having said this Uncle Abel felt that he had stated the case clearly and should have no farther trouble.

Miss Josie sailed about and returned with a white chip gipsy, trimmed with blue, a shirred green satin with a red rose on it, and a gray straw trimmed with scarlet poppies.

'Now this will be just what you want, I am sure; only twenty-five dollars too—so cheap and so becoming.'

Uncle Abel confessed afterward that he felt quite confounded at the price, but did not mean to let that Frenchified girl know it, so he only said, 'Oh, that's the style, eh? It ain't a bit like Betsey's old one though.'

'Oh no, Sir, the fashion has changed entirely. Now this gipsey is just the newest thing out, and your wife would set the fashion in the town, I don't doubt.'

She looked up at John Dare merrily, but could not interpret the look in his eyes; so, taking it for granted that it was an expression of admiration, she pursued the same strain.

'Just fresh from Paris; I am sure your wife would like that. Shall I try it on for you?'

'Wa'al yes, I can tell better how it looks then. Now it looks jest like a dish.'

'There—it goes on in this way,' and Josie pitched the little thing over her rosy face, and swep down the length of the room. 'Don't you like it?'

'Wa'al it's kind o'puty; but it's awful queer ain't it John?'

John thus appealed to could only answer that he 'knew nothing in the world about a woman's bonnet'; and took up his reverie, whatever it was, just where it was broken off. But looking idly in the long mirror opposite he saw Josie making signs to another girl, and he soon found that they were amusing themselves vastly at the perplexity of their customer. He saw, too, that a pale, quiet girl, with smooth brown hair looked up from her work indignantly, and he rather saw than heard her say, 'For shame;' and grow crimson as she spoke.

His own face flushed a little as he became aware that Uncle Abel was being made the butt of their jokes—good Uncle Abel who was looking so admiringly at the fabrics incomprehensible to him, his old heart only full of the thought how he should make his present worthy of the patient soul for whom it was intended.

Then John was greatly perplexed; for as he said truly, he knew nothing about all the mysterious and bewildering arrangements of dress that he saw every day.

Still he knew that Aunt Betsey's spare locks, thinly sprinkled with gray, were not dressed in modern style, and he could not for the life of him see whereabouts on that dear old head any of these gipsys or fanchons would rest. He remembered that long ago Aunt Betsey was wont to twist her hair with the same energy that distinguished all her movements, and that this operation resulted in a hard knob at the back of her head, like a door-handle, which certainly would not harmonize with these capless head-dresses.

Just as his brow was overcast with this thought the pale girl came toward Uncle Abel, her cheek flushing as she did so in defiance of the other girls, holding in her hand a plain Leghorn bonnet, trimmed quietly with violet ribbon.

She wore a morning dress, and the plain brooch at her throat held a lock of gray hair.

'I think this might suit you, Sir,' she said. 'If your wife don't dress her hair in these fashions those bonnets would not do at all. This is rich and plain, and covers the back of the head and neck.'

'Wa'al now, tell me, for I got so bothered, with these things that I don't know one from t'other. I want to get a nice bunnit for Betsey, and I mean to. Now jest tell me if you would like your mother to wear one like this?'

'Oh, I beg your pardon, ma'am. I didn't see;' and he touched the sleeve of her black dress. 'I—I am so sorry!'

'The young girl brushed off a tear quickly as she said: 'I have no mother now; but if you'll trust me, Sir, I think this will suit.'

She had stood hitherto just out of the range of John Dare's vision, and had not seen him at all. Something in the sound of her voice attracted him, perhaps, and when Uncle Abel called:

'Here, John Dare!' he stepped hastily forward. The girl thrust the bonnet in Uncle Abel's hand, and would have been out of sight if her dress had not caught on one of the branching stands, and held her fast.

'Amy!' and John Dare with a hot flush on his face, caught her hand and so detained her. 'Amy Egbert, have I found you at last?'

The girl's face grew white and red by turns, and the words she spoke came so slow and broken that only John could catch their meaning.

Uncle Abel pushing his spectacles up on his forehead, and, still holding the hat in his hand, looked open-mouthed from one to the other.

'I guess you must have known this young woman afore, didn't you?' he said: but John was too busy with eager questions, and Amy was trembling and flushing as she tried to speak calmly, and so his question was unanswered. Pretty Josie was dividing her attention between a new customer and the strange scene before her, and between anger and mortification she looked in no need of help from rouge as she tossed her head and muttered various uncourteous remarks in regard to 'that Amy Egbert and her beau.'

Uncle Abel held the hat a while longer quite patiently, but at last despaired of the interview being ended. So he coughed and then he said:

'I'll take this bunnet. Twenty dollars is a good deal, but Betsey's worth it, ain't she, John?'

John need not have started so, or said 'Very,' which wasn't a sensible answer at all, but Uncle Abel laughed a little to himself, and said, softly: 'Oh, boys will be boys!' He was obliged to tell Miss Egbert the direction over twice too, and felt quite uneasy lest it should not arrive at his hotel in time.

Outside the door John turned to leave his uncle, and looked as shy as a girl as he said, 'It's all right, Uncle Abel. You've found a new bonnet, and I've found a—a—an old friend!'

Uncle Abel held his hand fast, and looked a moment, without speaking, in John's face in a wistful way; then said, looking in the young man's eyes, 'she's a motherless girl, John!'

'Uncle Abel!' and John turned angrily away, or would have done so if the detaining hand had not held him with a grasp which sixty years had not weakened. 'Look here, my boy, I ment no offense. None of my blood turn villains,' he added, proudly, 'but you see she's young and purty and forlorn, and, maybe, if you see too much of her she might get to thinkin' more of you than would be good for her, and if you ain't in earnest I guess it would break her heart. Shake hands with your old uncle, my boy. I meant no harm; but I promised 'Liza when she was on her dyin' bed that I would allus try to give you good advice, and the last words a most that she spoke, says she 'Abel, watch over my boy.'

'My dear, kind uncle, I thank you—indeed I do—for all your kindness; but I could not bear to think that you should misjudge me. I knew Amy long ago when her parents were both living, and she had all that wealth could give her. I loved her then in a quiet way, but I was too poor to tell her so. Then came reverse and death, and in her poverty and pride the girl hid herself from me resolutely until now. She tried to earn her bread by her accomplishments but failed, and gladly took this means to do so. Now, if I can win her for my wife, I shall bring Mrs. John Dare to see you some fine day this summer—may I Uncle Abel?'

So they parted, and the passers-by little dreamed of all that hand-grasp spoke.

'Wa'al, wa'al, if things don't turn out queer!' soliloquized Uncle Abel, homeward-bound, with a bandbox safely placed on the seat before him. 'To think how near I came to gettin' one of them gipsys for Betsey. Why, she would have laughed a week about it. And then to think that that painted picter of a girl was making game of me all the while. And then the other one with her gentle way, taking the trouble to tell a stupid old fellow like me what was the right thing to buy. I guess she would make our John a nice wife; and after Betsey and me has passed away there'll be a nice bit of property comin' to John, and that'll help him on.'

How pleased Aunt Betsey was, when the old man gave her the new bonnet! How fair and young she looked in the fresh ribbons and soft blonde around her face! And how she laughed at the idea of wearing 'one of those dish-covers on her head!'

Just when the country was in its June glory John brought his bride to the farm-house where he had spent so many childish hours, and he led her to all the old familiar spots, from the weir in the brook to the grave in the orchard. But as long as straw and ribbon may endure to keep them both in mind how John Dare found his wife, they tell the story of the time when Uncle Abel bought Betsey's bonnet.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

A positive and specific remedy for all disease originating from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

L

STRUMA, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS,
ULCERATION, KING'S EVIL,
ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM

This taint (HEREDITARY and ACQUIRED,) filling life with untold misery, is by all usual medical remedies incurable.

RHEUMATISM.

If there is any disease in which the Constitution Life Syrup is a sovereign, it is in rehumatism and its kindred affections. The most intense pains are almost instantly alleviated—enormous swellings are reduced. Cases, chronic or vicarious, of twenty or thirty years standing have been cured.

I

NERVOUSNESS.
Nervous Debility, Shattered Nerves,
St. Vitus' Dance, Loss of Power,
Confusion of Thoughts, Epilepsy.

Thousands who have suffered for years will bless the day on which they read these lines. Particularly to weak, suffering women will this medicine prove an inestimable blessing—directing their footsteps to a Hope which fulfills more than in promise

MERCURIAL DISEASES.
Salivation, Rotting of Bones,
Bad Complexion, Aches in Bones,
Feeling of Weakness, Depression of Spirits.

F

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP purges the system entirely from all the evil effects of MERCURY, removing the Bad Breath, curing the Weak Joints and Rheumatic Pains which the use of Calomel is sure to produce. It hardens Spongy Gums and secures the Teeth as firmly as ever.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP
Eradicates root and branch, all Eruptive Diseases, of the Skin like

and all other difficulties of this kind, which so much disfigure the outward appearance of both males and females, often making them a disgusting object to themselves and their friends.

E

CURES ALL SWELLING OF THE GLANDS,

Either of the Face, Neck, or Female Breast, and should be taken as soon as the swelling is detected, thus preventing their breaking, and producing troublesome Discharging Sores, which disfigure so many of the younger portion of the community, from six to twenty years of age. Young children are very subject to Discharges from the Ears, which depends upon a Scrofulous constitution. These cases soon recover by taking a few doses of the Life Syrup.

S

All scrofulous persons suffering from general Debility, Emaciation, Dyspepsia and Dropsey of the limbs, abdomen, and in the female, Dropsey of the ovaries and womb, generally accompanied with inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, are permanently cured by Constitution Life Syrup. The disease known as Goitre or Swelled Neck, the Life Syrup will remove entirely. The romedy should be taken for some time, as the disease is exceedingly chronic and stubborn, and will not be removed without extra effort.

Tumors of the Ovaries, Tumors of the Breast, and swelling of other glands of the body, will be completely reduced without resorting to the knife, or operations of any kind.

Y

Epileptic Fits, Sympathetic or Organic Disease of the Heart, as palpitation, Disease of the Valves, producing a grating or filing sound, Dropsey of the Heart Case and all the affections of this importan organ (persons suffering from any acute pain in the region of the heart), will be greatly relieved by Constitution Life Syrup.

BROKEN DOWN AND DELICATE CONSTITUTIONS SUFFERING FROM INDISPOSITION TO EXERTION, PAIN IN THE BACK, LOSS OF MEMORY, FOREBODINGS, HORROR OF CALAMITY, FEAR OF DISEASE, DIMNESS OF VISION, DRY, HOT SKIN AND EXTREMITIES, WANT OF SLEEP, RESTLESSNESS, PALE, HAGGARD COUNTENANCE, AND LASSITUDE OF THE MUSCULAR SYSTEM, all require the aid of the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

R

FOR ALL FORMS OF Ulcerative Diseases,

Either of the NOSE, THROAT, TONGUE, SPINE, FOREHEAD or SCALP, no remedy has ever proved its equal.

MOTH PATCHES upon the female face depending upon the diseased action of the liver, are very unpleasant to the young wife and mother. A few bottles of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP, will correct the secretion, and remove the deposit which is directly under the skin.

In the diseases of the Liver, giving rise to Languor, Dizziness, Indigestion, Weak Stomach or an ulcerated or cancerous condition of that organ, accompanied with burning or other unpleasant symptoms, will be relieved by the use of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

U

THE RICH AND POOR
are liable to the same diseases. Nature and Science has made the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP for the benefit of all.

PURE BLOOD
Produces healthy men and women; and if the constitution is neglected in youth, disease and early death is the result.

Notice to the Public!

In the year 1846, the writer embarked in the Drug Business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the most desirable mode of preparing Fluid Extracts—My efforts being successful—the articles being approved and used by the Medical Faculty—I was desirous of placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before concluding to resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudice that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but through the advice of friends and those who had used them this objection was overcome.

After 18 years' exertion, commencing in a small way, the popularity of my articles has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely throughout foreign countries—and this in the face of much opposition. Every means has been resorted to by unprincipled dealers since their merit and success have been known—such as advertising larger bottles at less price, censuring all other preparations, and even copying my advertisements—but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been successful.

MY OBJECT

In this notice is to make facts known to the public and respectable dealers, believing, after so many years' exertions, that the Druggists will discountenance such proceedings, and that the reputation of my articles may not be damaged by use of inferior or spurious ones.

Knowing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks from those of my native city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:

"Being personally acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold, it affords me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and gratified at his success."

WM. WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]

"When on a visit to the city of New York a few days since, I was induced to call on our old friend and townsman Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, New York. His store is a Model—a perfect Gem—the handsomest of any kind we have ever had the pleasure of viewing, and so extensive, being 34 feet front, five stories in height, and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us much pleasure to know that he has been so successful, and it is ample evidence of the merits of his articles—as in our whole business experience we have not known of the success of any articles without Merit—advertising merely bringing the name before the people."

[Boston Herald]

"We do not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles calculated to deceive our readers; and when we see an advertiser like Mr. Helmbold, whom we have known for years, gradually extend his advertising from year to year until he becomes the largest advertiser in the United States, we are satisfied that the statements in regard to his articles must be correct."

The writer reluctantly inserts the above, and would not do so were he not a stranger to many; and concludes by stating the names of his articles, and the diseases for which they have been used by many thousands with complete success.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU

DR. LAROOKAH'S Sarsaparilla Compound,

For the Speedy and Permanent Cure of Liver Complaints, Scrofula or King's Evil, Eruptions, and all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches and Boils; Rheumatic and Neuralgic Pains in the Bones, Side and Head: for the various Weaknesses to which Females are liable; Dyspepsia, Debility, Emaciation, Dropsy, and all diseases resulting from or in an impure state of the Blood.

IT is invaluable to Nervous Sufferers, and a positive cure for Palsy arising from the abuse of Mercury or Lead.

It is a Tonic as well as an Alterative, and a sure protection from attacks that originate in change of climate, season or life.

LIVER COMPLAINTS and their combined symptoms, such as Lumbago, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Bilious Eruptions, &c. When caused by Scrofula taint, this compound is a most effectual remedy.

DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, is often caused by Scrofula, which deranges the stomach, and renders it unhealthy. Indigestion is not always caused by Scrofula, when it is, this Sarsaparilla Compound is a ready cure.

NEURALGIA, HEADACHE and various disorders of the nervous system frequently arise from a low state of the constitutional health, and are much relieved and often cured by this powerful remedy.

ERYSIPELAS, Boils, Tumors, or Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sores, &c. Moderate doses three times a day will usually effect the cure of the above complaints, but often requires considerable time.

Price one dollar per bottle. Six bottles for five dollars.

DR. LAROOKAH'S ALL-CONQUERING INDIAN VEGETABLE PULMONIC SYRUP,

A Sovereign Remedy for Coughs Colds, Bronchitis Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat & Lungs.

Unsurpassed by any Medical Discovery in the World. DR. E. R. KNIGHTS, Proprietor. Melrose, Mass.

Price 50 Cents and $1,00 per Bottle.

DR. KNIGHTS' Oriental Hair Restorer.

After a long series of experiments, this article, as it is now offered to the public, is believed to be the most perfect of its kind which science has ever devised. No pains have been spared to produce what has so long been demanded by thousands, who, from sickness or other causes, have become prematurely grey; and others, who, in the sere and yellow leaf of life, would retain, as far as possible, the semblance of youth. DR. KNIGHTS' ORIENTAL HAIR RESTORER, after a few applications, restores grey or faded hair to its original color, and is the only preparation of the kind upon which the public can place any reliance. It has never been known to fail in a single instance, and is totally unlike the thousand and one so-called Hair Restorers, by which so many have been egregiously deceived.

It is delightfully perfumed, gives the hair a rich and glossy appearance, promotes its luxuriant growth, and will not soil the skin, scalp, or any article of apparel.

PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

Prepared by

E. B. KNIGHTS, Chemist, Melrose, Mass.

Sold by B. F. Bradbury, General Agent, Bangor, and by Druggists and Merchants everywhere.

American & Foreign Patents

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington under the Act of 1837.

No. 78 State Street, (opposite Kilby street,) Boston.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS; every one of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
